GERMANY TAKES OVER MEMEL

BUSY MEMEL—HITLER'S NEWEST PORT O' CALL ON BALTIC SEA

Hitler Sails on Nazi Warship To Memel, Newest Conquest

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, March 22—Once again a conqueror who triumphs without firing a shot, Adolf Hitler left Berlin this afternoon for a state visit to Memel, which a few hours earlier came back to Germany after 16 years of Lithuanian rule.

The Fuehrer entrained for Swinemuende, German naval base on the Baltic. There he boarded the new battleship Deutschland which will steam into the harbor of Memel at noon tomorrow.

His arrival will signalize Hitler's first "naval conquest." The return of Memel gave him his first opportunity to stage a triumphant entry into a newly-acquired territory as commander-in-chief of the German navy, a post he holds s ematically as supreme military commander of the Reich.

Ieports which officials would neither confirm or deny said that his troops, moving from Tilsit, East Prussia, would enter Memel at 5 a. m. (11 p. m., Wednesday, EST) tomorrow.

The Deutschland's journey in addition will constitute the second time since the World War that a German naval vessel has been utilized for anything but manoeuvres or ceremonial display.

The first occasion was early in the Spanish civil war when the Deutschland itself mercilessly shelled the Mediterranean port of Almeria in retaliation for an attack upon her in the Balearics by Spanish government bombing planes.

MAY DITCH NAVAL PACT

Hitler's decision to make the journey to Memel by battleship was significant in view of the recently-launched German naval building campaign and because of persistent reports that he may denounce the Anglo-German naval treaty as a mark of displeasure over Great Britain's attitude toward his "protectorate" over Czechoslovakia.

In addition, this choice of travel eliminates the necessity of crossing Polish soil. Since Poland was granted a corridor to the sea, Germany has been cut off by land from East Prussia and Memel.

Annexation of Memel by Germany will complete Hitler's spring program of expansion, it was believed today.

According to all indications, the Fuehrer will confine the remainder of the month to consolidation of the new positions he has gained, both in Memel and in what formerly was Czechoslovakia.

He also is expected to engage in systematic development of German influence to the east beyond the borders of Slovakia. At the same time, the Fuehrer will give full moral support to Premier Mussolini when Italy renews forthcoming territorial demands upon France.

Offical quarters were somewhat disturbed this morning by reports from Danzig depicting outbursts of Nazi enthusiasm, as if Germans there expected immediate annexation of the free city.

It was understood that word will be passed to the Danzig Nazis to calm down.

RUMANIA SIGNS NAZI TRADE PACT

BUCHAREST, Rumania, March 22 (AP)—Germany and Rumania signed a trade treaty tonight.

Rumanian officials jubilantly announced that the country's "political and economic independence" had been preserved under the terms of the treaty.

Details were not announced.

LONDON, March 22 (AP)—A Reuters (British news agency) dispatch from Bucharest quoted Rumanian Premier Armand Calinescu as saying today that his government hoped to disband reservists called to the colors within from 10 to 15 days.

TWO ways to strike at the Russian Ukraine are now Germany's with the fall of Memel. She can advance through sympathetic Lithuania and Latvia in the north and through Rumania in the south, while that country is held at bay by Hungary's troops. Russia has concentrated forces on western borders to forestall pincer-like invasion.

Threat of Air Raid Forces Liths to Yield

KAUNAS, March 22 (AP)—The little republic of Lithuania surrendered Memel, seaport she acquired after the World War, to the advancing German Reich today in answer to what semi-official sources said was a threat that her entire state would be taken over if she did not comply.

Thus Germany got back a Baltic seaport she lost under the Treaty of Versailles and Lithuania was left without one.

The semi-official newspaper Lietuvos Aidas said:

"In the face of dire necessity Lithuania was placed before the cruel dilemma — either transfer Memel to Germany or endanger the independence of the entire state."

Arguing that the best possible course had been followed in capitulating to Germany, the newspaper said:

"The German demand was based on force and Lithuania must heroically submit."

Lithuania was declared in a state of emergency and reserve troops called to the colors, replacing Memellanders released from service by the Nazi annexation.

THREAT TOLD COMMONS

(In London Home Secretary Sir Samuel Hoare told the House of Commons that Germany had threatened to annex all Lithuanian if Memel were not surrendered in four days.

(An Exchange Telegraph agency —British— dispatch from Warsaw said Germany had threatened aerial bombardment of Kaunas unless a propaganda ministry communique were withdrawn last night. The communique, subsequently withdrawn, had said no change in Memel's status could be made until consultation with foreign powers who in 1924 guaranteed Memel's integrity.

(German planes were flying over Memel when Lithuania's Parliament met in Kaunas to ratify cession of the region to Germany, the dispatch said.)

EMERGENCY PROCLAIMED

A state of emergency was proclaimed throughout Lithuania. The Lithuanian army began gradual evacuation of Memel.

The state of emergency resembles martial law. Officials said one reason for it was to facilitate withdrawal of Lithuanian troops.

The Lithuanian Parliament in an emergency session this morning approved the cession of Memel.

The official Lithuanian announcement said:

"The cession of Memel, which has been forced on Lithuanians, has depressed the population, but there is determination to fight for the independence of Lithuania herself."

There were rumors that Chancellor Hitler would go to Memel to celebrate his latest bloodless con-

ESTHER MALITZ, WHO FIGHTS FOR LIFE
Rare Form of Paralysis Felled Her

RARE PARALYSIS THREATENS LIFE OF HUB GIRL, 13

With chances "50 to 1" against her, a 13-year-old Dorchester girl was making a courageous fight for her life at the City Hospital today, after being stricken with a rare form of paralysis.

The youthful victim, Esther Malitz, collapsed as she was walking from school to her home in Norwell street, Dorchester.

"Mother, mother, I can't walk," she screamed.

Her mother, Mrs. Sarah Malitz, carried her into the house.

City hospital doctors said the girl was suffering from transverse myelitis, a little known disease characterized by inflamation of the spinal cord.

Hardly one person out of 50 so stricken recovers, they warned.

Praying for Esther today were her 16-year-old brother, Herbert, and three sisters, Frances, 17, Lenoa, 15, and Rosalind, 11.

All are in school except Frances, who is seeking employment.

Only income of the family is a small government pension the mother receives as the widow of a world war veteran, she said.

She married again, but she and her present husband are separated.

Business Gain Near, Twin Bed Sales Indicate

CHICAGO, March 22 (AP)—Business, according to the twin-bed barometer, is on the upgrade.

Stuart J. Mills, secretary of the National Association of Bedding Manufacturers, said the ratio of twin bed sales to double bed sales since 1929 has increased in good times and dropped when business was bad.

"In 1936 double beds outsold twin beds 10 to 1," he said. "The present ratio is 5 to 1."

3 Ex-Maine Aldermen Denied Pardons

AUGUSTA, Me., March 22 (AP)—The executive council denied today the pardon requests of three former Lewiston aldermen, William V. Ayotte, John I. Field and William Moreau, who were sentenced to jail several months ago on charges of accepting bribes as public officers.

Pardons of 2 Killers, 1 Gunman Revoked

Governor Saltonstall and his executive council today revoked State Prison paroles granted John Tartar, Soth End slayer, Harry "Sneaks" Baker, Worcester murderer, and Charles A. Lyman, armed bandit who defaulted yesterday in superior court.

With the revocations came startling charges from an executive councilor to the effect that papers in one case were stolen in a State House corridor last November.

All three revocations were recommended by Arthur T. Lyman, state commissioner of correction.

Lyman recommended revocation of the parole granted Tartar last November 23 by former Governor Hurley and his council on the ground that Tartar had violated conditions of his liberty by leaving the state without permission.

Baker is now serving a sentence of five to 25 years in a Texas prison for armed robbery, the conviction constituting violation of his parole here.

NONE NOW IN CUSTODY

Lyman was found guilty yesterday in superior court on a charge of breaking and entering, a parole violation, but he had vanished from the courtroom before the jury gave its verdict.

None of the thre convicts are consequently back in custody, state officials claiming they do not know the present whereabouts of Tartar, who went to prison for the slaying of 21-year-old Mary Mahan of South Boston the "Butterfly Girl," in the Blue Hills.

Tartar's two brothers, however, asserted he had gone to New York last Saturday, believing the necessary permission was forthcoming, and that after his arrival he telegraphed his New York address to parole officials here.

Opt of the parole revocations came a charge by Governor's Councilor Frank A. Brooks that certain records were taken from the file of the Tartar case last November while they were on the way from

Fire Routs Family

When fire blocked exit of their Broadway, Chelsea, apartment, Phillip Eckstrom, 11, ill with scarlet fever, and sister Eileen, 12, were forced to flee over fire escape. They're shown here in patrol wagon, headed for hospital.

21 PERSONS FLEE, 3 FIREMEN HURT AT FOUR BLAZES

Two-alarm fires in Boston and Chelsea, causing damage of more than $15,000, a $3000 blaze in Revere and one in Dedham threatened the lives of 21 persons and injured three firemen today.

Women and children were forced to flee down fire escapes and ladders when fire in a Broadway, Chelsea, apartment building burned the front stairways.

Among those carried down ladders to Division street, at the rear, were Mrs. Gertrude Eckstrom, 47, her four-year-old son Morton, ill with scarlet fever; Phillip Eckstrom, 11; and Eileen, 12.

Fireman Richard Callahan, 38 received body bruises in a drive while battling the flames. Eight more families were driven out when the fire threatened to spread to adjoining buildings, in the Chelsea business center.

A two-alarm fire in a five-story building at the corner of Chauncy and Bedford streets in downtown Boston caused a large concentration of apparatus to protect the department store district.

District Chief Daniel P. Crowley was sent to his home in West Roxbury after treatment for smoke inhalation. Several other firemen were treated at the scene for slight illness caused by smoke.

Flames were confined to the basement but smoke poured up through carpet concerns, millinery shops and offices on upper floors.

In Revere, flames swept a store and vacant dwelling above in a two-story wood building on Campbell avenue.

Lieutenant Jeremiah Crowley of Engine 1 was badly bruised in a

FIRST LADY STILL MEMBER OF D.A.R., SAYS REGISTRAR

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, wife of the President, still is a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution, so far as officials of the organization know, Mrs. Frank L. Nason of Scituate said today, as the Massachusetts D. A. R. met for its 45th annual conference at the Copley Plaza Hotel.

DOG'S SAMARITAN—Injured in a fight, this bulldog fought off two policemen until Mrs. Mary Mahoney of Roslindale arrived and subdued him with soft words. She took the animal to Angell Memorial Hospital for treatment.

Mrs. Nason is national registrar of the D. A. R., and Mrs. Roosevelt's resignation—reported tendered in protest against D. A. R. refusal to allow Marian Anderson, Negro singer, use of a hall in Washington—would pass through her hands, she asserted.

ACTION DEFENDED

At the same time, D. A. R. officials here released a statement from National Regent Mrs. Henry M. Robert of Washington D. C., upholding the organization's stand on the Marian Anderson issue.

Apparently abandoning the D. A. R.'s original claim that racial discrimination was not involved, Mrs. Robert said, in part:

"Rules governing the use of Constitution Hall are of seven years' standing and are in accordance with a policy of theaters, auditoriums, hotels and public schools of Washington.

VOTE TO RETAIN RULE

"In view of the existence of these provisions and the prevailing agreement with other organizations and concert bureaus on policies adopted in the past, an exception could not be made. (In Miss Anderson's case.)

"Considerable newspaper publicity developed before the question was brought to the attention of the president-general. At the recent board meeting a full discussion took place, after which by a ballot of 39 et 1, the board voted to maintain the rule."

Mrs. Robert's statement reiterated the assertion that Constitution Hall had been previously engaged for Easter Sunday, the date on which it was sought for Miss Anderson.

Jailed Cop's Plea Weighed by Court

Patrolman Robert F. Warren and two constables who were witnesses in his unsuccessful suit for divorce remained in Charles street jail today while Supreme Court Justice Louis S. Cox considered a plea that their commitment be set aside on writ of error.

Judge Cox refused, however, to undo the work of Judge John V. Mahoney, by declining to admit the trio to bail.

Atty John Boyle argued that if the Supreme Court upheld the action of Judge John V. Mahoney of Suffolk probate court in sentencing the men to Charles st. jail for 30 days, for contempt in offering perjured testimony "the constitutional rights of all citizens would be unsafe."

Boyle also charged that such a ruling "would not be in accordance with the high standard of Massachusetts justice."

Patrolman Warren was clerk of the traffic squad. The other two prisoners are William Tepper, Blue Hill ave., Roxbury, and Joseph Herman, Lucerne st., Dorchester. All three have been confined since March 13. The prisoners were represented by Attys. Boyle and Harold Aronofsky.

Judge Mahoney was represented by Asst. Atty.-Gen. Edward C. Procter who argued that the court records showed no error had been committed in jailing the men for contempt.

BULLETIN

Hearing of habeas corpus proceedings on behalf of Policeman Robert F. Warren and two others, jailed by Probate Court Judge John V. Mahoney for contempt of court, was ordered for 3 o'clock today by Supreme Court Judge Louis S. Cox.

Governor Fills 4 State Berths

Four new trustees for state institutions were nominated by Governor Saltonstall today, the nominations to be acted upon at next week's meeting of the governor's council. They are:

Eliot C. Cutler of Brookline, to succeed Margaret M. O'Riordan, resigned, as trustee of the Tewksbury Infirmary; Ida M. Cannon, Cambridge, to succeed David J. McCarthy, same institution; Abraham Sloan of Lynn, to succeed J. Russell Murphy as a trustee of the Independent Shoemaking School, and Cecil Ford, East Dartmouth, to succeed Louis Orsi as trustee of the Bristol County Agricultural School.

Arthur J. Burgess was reappointed a master-in-chancery, the new appointment also to be acted upon at next week's council meeting.

Fisherman Lost On N. Bedford Boat

NEW BEDFORD, March 22 (AP)—Her flags at half mast, the New Bedford trawler Leretha docked today to report the loss of a crew member, James Murphy, 34, of New Bedford, who fell overboard Saturday night while fishing 75 miles southeast of Pollock Rip lightship.

Law for Purge In State Urged

Legislation to permit the governor to fill all important state posts with his own appointees after April 30 was urged at the State House today on the ground that election of Governor Saltonstall was a clear indication the people "want a purge."

Representative Charles W. Hedges of Quincy, Republican, appeared before the state administration committee in support of the bill under which the present terms of al department heads would expire April 30 and under which terms of department executives would end with the governor's.

Scituate Club Saved in Fire

Notice to members of the eminently exclusive Glades Club, on the Peninsula, North Scituate:

"Ladies, gentlemen and children: Remember the big barn behind the clubhouse. Well, it isn't any more. It burned today. Then, after it burned, the fire went into the marshes and played hob generally, but with no further damage.

"There was a lot of smoke, though, so don't be alarmed if anyone tells you the club burned up. It didn't.

"Yours respectfully,
"Joseph T. Healey, Caretaker."

P. S.: "See you all soon now."

Harold Lloyd Hurt In Motor Crash

HOLLYWOOD, March 22 (INS)—Harold Lloyd, noted film comedian, received minor injuries when his chauffeur-driven automobile collided with a truck. The actor's car was struck broadside and thrown 35 feet into a lamp-post.

Although he declined medical aid at the scene of the accident, it was reported that Lloyd was under the care of a physician at his Beverly Hills home.

BUSY—As in this photo, Carole Lombard, filmland's craziest cutup, was working about a 14-room house in Encino, Calif., owned by Clark Gable today, directing workmen in fixing it up—for what? Carole was evasive when asked if she would wed Clark soon. She said she "didn't know." He was recently divorced.

FATHER OF 7 KILLED BY EL TUNNEL TRAIN

Patrick J. Murphy, 50, of Fairmount street, Arlington, signalman for the Boston Elevated, was instantly killed today by a two-car train near Maverick station—leaving seven children fatherless.

The train bound from Maverick to Scollay square via East Boston tunnel had proceeded only a short distance from the East Boston terminal when it struck Murphy, working at a switch.

According to Michael F. McGovern, operator of the train, he felt a slight bump and brought the train to a stop within 30 feet.

No one had seen the signalman at work in the darkness and it is believed he slipped and fell into the path of the train. An investigation was begun by Elevated officials.

Surviving Murphy are his widow, Mrs. Nellie Cavanaugh Murphy, and their children—Mary, Eileen, Rita, Edward, Kathleen, John and Howard.

Funeral services have been tentatively set for Saturday at the Immaculate Conception Church, Alewife Brook parkway, on the Cambridge-Arlington line.

East Boston police arrested Operator McGovern on a technical charge of manslaughter. Arraigned in East Boston district court, he was held in $1000 for a hearing March 30.

Borrow Victim's Tools to Crack Safe

At the very least they could have brought their own tools. But they didn't. So safe-crackers who broke into the James Shapiro Company's auto accessories store at Commonwealth avenue and St. Mary's street, Brookline, early today used Mr. Shapiro's own crowbars, hammers and drills to smash his safe. They got $110.

HUB MAN SUICIDE IN FLORIDA

A man known as Leroy Stacy and understood to be a Boston security salesman, was found dead in a hired automobile at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., today.

Authorities said he had committed suicide.

Word of Stacy's death reached here when authorities in the Florida city requested Boston police to locate his relatives.

According to the police, a hose ran from the exhaust pipe into the car, the windows of which were closed.

Police found on the victim's body a watch with the inscription, "From Grace to Roy," and a ring bearing the inscription, "From Edna to Roy."

TOWNSEND TO DEBATE

Part-Pay Sent To Teachers In Woburn

With the offending phrase "payment in part" erased from them, checks for two semi-monthly salary payments were received today by Woburn school teachers.

Everyone knows that Mayor William E. Kane cut the Woburn school budget by 20 per cent last year, and again this year. When the schools ran out of money last year, teachers weren't paid for November and December.

This year it was agreed that the deduction be made monthly, subject to final disposition by the courts as to whether it is legal.

So checks were drawn for one semi-monthly payment in full, the deduction being taken out of the other. When the school committee marked the short check "payment in part," however, Mayor Kane refused to sign them.

It has been further agreed now that failure to so mark them does not emperil the teachers' rights in the event of the suit so the words have been left off.

Checks received today are the Feb. 5 and March 5 payments, the Feb. 20 and March 20 payments having been made in full.

WPA PROBE VOTED BY HOUSE GROUP

WASHINGTON, March 22 (INS)—Unswerved by administration opposition, the House rules committee voted seven to four in executive session today to approve the Cox resolution for a sweeping investigation of the WPA.

Representative Cox (D.) of Georgia, one of the most outspoken anti-New Dealers in Congress, predicted the House would pass his resolution overwhelmingly.

Five Democratic members of the rules committee bolted the administration to vote for the WPA investigation. They were Cox, Smith of Virginia, Dies of Texas, Lewis of Colorado and Dempsey of New Mexico. They were joined by two Republicans, Mapes of Michigan and Allen of Illinois.

Standing by the administration were Sabath of Illinois, chairman of the committee; Delaney of New York, Colmer of Mississippi and Nelson of Missouri, all Democrats.

It was the second setback of the day for the administration on the problem of relief.

Many Judges Attend Justice Morton Rites

Solemn dignity, commensurate with the dignified role he played in his lifetime, marked funeral services this afternoon for Judge Marcus Morton, 74, third of his name and line to hold high judicial office.

The rites were at Trinity Episcopal Church, of which he was vestryman emeritus.

Judge Morton, senior Superior Court justice in point of years of service—just short of 30—died suddenly Monday after a heart attack in his apartment at the Charlesgate Hotel.

He is survived by his widow, a son of the same name, who is an attorney, and Miss Helen Morton, devoted to Y. W. C. A. work in New York city.

ESCORT OF JUDGES

Hundreds of notables attended today's services. The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. William E. Gardiner, rector of the church. The body was cremated at Mount Auburn crematory before burial at Newton cemetery.

Chief Justice John P. Higgins led 28 of the 32 superior court judges as an honorary escort.

At the request of the widow the usual pomp attending the funeral of a justice was dispensed with and the justices appeared at the services attired in business suits. Chief Justice Higgins was accompanied by Edmund S. Phinney, executive secretary to the superior court judges.

COURT CLOSED

Suffolk Superior court closed at one o'clock in his honor, while the office of the court's clerk was closed from 2 until 4.

Robert G. Dodge, John C. Palfrey, William V. Kellen and Edward R. Hale represented the Boston Bar Association at the funeral, while the Middlesex Bar Association was represented by Harold P. Johnson, Joseph Wiggin, Theodore Eaton, William H. Best and Vincent P. Clarke.

William Lyon Phelps' Wife Dies Suddenly

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 22 (AP) — Mrs. Annabel Hubbard Phelps, wife of Dr. William Lyon Phelps of Yale University, died suddenly at her home here today.

Mrs. Phelps, a native of Huron City, Mich., married the famous college professor, author and critic on Dec. 21, 1892.

Jap Planes Drop Bombs on Foochow

FOOCHOW, China, March 22 (AP)—In the first air raids on Foochow since last July 7, eight Japanese planes late yesterday assaulted the city twice with bombs.

The bombs were concentrated on Chinese barracks, customs sheds and powerhouses. Casualties were few.

MRS. VERA SPRAGUE
Guilty of Shoplifting

5 Shoplifters Guilty; 1 Gets Prison Term

They even had a glass of beer each in a cafe—and then stole the beer glasses—Police Chief William H. Sullivan told Dedham court today in testifying against five alleged women shoplifters.

One of the five, Mrs. Vera Sprague, 33, of Kilmarnock street, Back Bay, mother of two children, was sentenced to a year in Sherborn Reformatory for Women.

When she appeared she was given until tomorrow to raise $1000 bail.

The other four women were given suspended sentences to the reformatory and were placed on probation for a year.

They are Mrs. Dorothy Harrington, 27, of Barlow street, Roslindale, mother of five children; Mrs. Bessie Villiard, 25, of Woodbury street, Roxbury, mother of three; Mrs. Helen Hawkins, 24, of Merrimack avenue, Methuen, mother of one, and Miss Ruth Chapski, 32, Beech street, Roslindale.

According to Chief Sullivan, the women stole several hundred dollars worth of merchandise from Norwood stores.

Police of Dedham and Needham also testified the women had been stealing from stores in those towns.

Dies, Andrews To Speak Here

Three spring luncheons, with Martin Dies, Elmer F. Andrews and Paul W. Litchfield as speakers, were announced today by Oscar W. Hausserman, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce committee on members' luncheons.

Congressman Dies, chairman of the committee on un-American activities, will address a luncheon April 6 on "Americanism."

Elmer F. Andrews, administrator of the wage and hour division of the United States Department of Labor, will talk April 20 on "The Wage and Hour Act."

Paul W. Litchfield, president of Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, will be the guest speaker on May 2. His address will cover "The Rubber Industry Looks at Business."

Early Peace Looms In Trucking Strike

The Rhode Island trucking strike entered its fourth day today with Governor William H. Vanderbilt reporting "progress" and hope for early settlement.

Meanwhile, strike of 75 drivers in Lawrence neared the arbitration stage with union officials and representatives of five trucking concerns ready to talk over their difficulties.

Despite the optimism of Governor Vanderbilt, strikers remained aloof to the suggestion by owners that they return to work and postpone negotiations until new Interstate Commerce Commission freight rates are issued next Fall.

The strike continued without violence, although Rhode Island's motor truck transportation was reduced by one-half, according to union officials.

Striking drivers are attempting to force an agreement which would cost truck owners of Southern New England a total of $1,500,000 a year if similar contracts are signed throughout the territory.

The district affected if the strike should spread includes Worcester, Springfield, Brockton, New Bedford in Massachusetts and all of Connecticut.

Judge Manton Pleads Innocent

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP)—Martin T. Manton, former senior judge of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, pleaded innocent today in federal court to two indictments charging conspiracy, and involving the alleged payment of money to him by litigants in cases he heard.

Federal Judge John W. Clancy fixed bail at $10,000 and set March 29 for a hearing to determine when Manton would be brought to trial.

RILEY AND GRANT CLASH AT HEARING

Frank E. Riley, deposed head of the state commercial vehicles division, today accused Public Utilities Commissioner Richard D. Grant of breaking into Riley's desk at the division office.

The accusation came during a heated clash between Riley and Grant at the public utilities commission hearing into charges against Riley of 17 alleged irregularities on which he was ousted.

Riley was under cross-examination by Attorney Charles H. McCue, counsel for the commission, with regard to certain records pertaining to his former office.

ACCUSES GRANT

"You have only four cases here," said Riley, "where there was big money paid for permits (truck carriers' permits) but I took care of other permits for $10."

Grant broke into the cross-examination and asked Riley:

"Do I understand you correctly, Mr. Riley, to say that there are other payments which were handled by you and which we have not here?"

"Yes," replied Riley.

"Why didn't you bring the records up here?"

"Well, if I had you with me I could probably get them. Apparently you can find anything. I saw you go down and break open my desk."

"I never broke into your desk," Grant shot back, "and if you saw me break into your desk you must have been in the waste basket."

QUIZZED ON $400

"No," snapped Riley, "I wasn't in the waste basket but I saw you with my own eyes."

"Well, that's beside the point," said Grant.

Riley was cross-examined relative to the case of William Minihan, Cambridge expressman, who had testified that he bought, for $400, a permit from a man introduced to him by Riley as Richard Mason of Springfield, in 1936.

Mason testified later, however, that he never had met Minihan, that he never had sold his permit and that, in fact, he never had received the permit because he failed to send an additional dollar for his plates.

AIDED CHECK CASHING

While being cross-examined, Riley admitted introducing the man called Mason to Minihan in a Boston hotel and also admitted instructing Minihan to introduce "Mason" at a bank so that "Mason" could cash the check for $400.

Q—(By McCue) Did you check on the permit? A—Yes.

Q—How do you account for Mason not getting his permit after he paid $10 for it? There were a lot of things going in in my department that I didn't know anything about.

Attorney McCue remarked that Riley had been paid $5000 a year by the state to run the department.

"You were supposed to know what was going on down there?" asked McCue.

"Yes," Riley admitted.

2d Youth Held As Store Bandit

Charles Young, 17, of Brighton street, Charlestown, was turned over to Somerville police today after admitting in the Boston police lineup that he was concerned in a $3.90 holdup of a Somerville store, February 19.

The youth said he entered the store in Richardson street, Somerville, with Martin Leveroni, 18, of Pearl street, Charlestown, and held up Vincent Filosi, the proprietor, police charge.

Leveroni, also under arrest, is charged additionally with a $10 robbery in a store in Main street, Charlestown, March 14.

According to police, he said he used only a lead pencil to threaten the store manager, James J. Danergan, who believed he had a gun. Leveroni will be arraigned first on the Charlestown charge.

CONGRESS TOLD NAZIS 1ST IN AIR

WASHINGTON, March 22 (INS)—The government's national committee on aeronautics has informed Congress that the United States no longer builds the best military airplanes in the world—that position now goes to Germany.

This was disclosed today when the House appropriations committee made public testimony by NACA officials seeking a $12,725,000 expension program for aeronautical research.

"Today Germany is building better planes for military purposes than we are," Dr. Vannevar Bush, former M. I. T. genius, vice-chairman of the NACA, said.

Dr. Bush's conclusion, based on observations while visiting Germany was corroborated by other officials of the advisory committee which is composed of the nation's leading experts on aviation, including Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Orville Wright.

John F. Victory, Naca's secretary, advised the committee that in 1938 Germany applied its extensive research so successfully as to overtake the United States in technical development of aircraft.

Another witness, Robert H. Hinckley of the civil aeronautics authority, also gave Germany first place in training military aviators. Using 100 as an index, he rated world powers: Germany 100, Russia 80, Italy 60, Great Britain 30, United States 30 and France 20.

U.S. Group Seeks Air Base in N. E.

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP)—A special navy board for selection of air, fleet, and mine bases probably will visit the coastline between Boston and the Canadian border beginning tomorrow to select a site for a secondary air base.

Representative Bates (R.), of Massachusetts, a member of the House naval affairs committee, said today plans for the trip were tentative.

The board is scheduled to report next month on the best location for a base auxiliary to Quonset Point, R. I., base. The board has designated the Quonset Point development as one of the nation's major naval air bases.

The board's tentative program calls for visits to Ipswich and Newburyport, Mass.; Dover, N. H., and Bar Harbor, Belfast, Rockland, Bath, and Portland, Me.

Slovakia Invites Its Exiles to Return

BERLIN, March 22 (AP)—Any Slovak in the United States who wishes to return to Slovakia will be welcome, says the Slovak premier, Dr. Joseph Tiso.

Interviewed yesterday at Pressburg, the premier explained Slovakia planned to send a minister to Washington. He said the Slovaks now in the United States "were chased out of their country because of their Slovakian patriotism."

SORE FEET

To His Soldiers Napoleon Said, "OIL YOUR FEET"

Sore, aching, burning feet probably cause more misery—more distress—more bad temper and cursing than most other human ailments.

"Oil your feet," ordered Napoleon to his soldiers before a battle or a long march—he was a clever man.

Many a time—overnight—you can take out the sting—the soreness—the burning and aching from your poor distressed feet by giving them a good rubbing with penetrating medicated OMEGA OIL.

So don't worry—"Oil your feet" with Omega Oil tonight, walk more briskly and joyfully to work tomorrow—35c at your druggist.

Boosts Rate On King Trip

LONDON, March 22 (AP)—Lloyd's underwriters quoted a premium of 25 per cent for insurance against cancellation of the visit of King George and Queen Elizabeth to Canada in May.

This was an increase over the rate of a month ago, when it was only 20 per cent, and reflected nervousness engendered by the international crisis.

There was no hint that possibility of cancellation of the visit had been discussed in any responsible quarter.

Cardinal's Ship Nears Gibraltar

ABOARD MOTORSHIP VULCANIA, March 22—In heavy seas seldom experienced on the blue and usually peaceful Mediterranean, William Cardinal O'Connell today neared Gibraltar on his homeward trip from the Vatican.

The Cardinal, known as one of the best of sailors, was in excellent health despite the storm, but for the first time omitted his daily walk on deck.

Real Spring Weather Due By Tomorrow

The balmy zephyrs Miss Springtime left behind her somewhere, as she hastened to keep her date with Boston, will catch up with her tomorrow, according to the weatherman.

Official forecast today is for substantially rising temperatures tomorrow and Friday.

The Middle West is already basking in a warm wave and it won't be long until Bostonians, too, can pack away their overcoats in moth balls, government observers promise.

Thermometers here ought to hit the upper 40's tomorrow and soar into the 50's Friday, it is predicted.

Prof. Hart Sees World Peril, Says U. S. Aids Nazis, Japs

Editor's Note: The world is repeating the experiences of the Napoleonic era with Russia the pivot, in diplomacy and of what seems like war on the greatest scale in history, declares Prof. Albert Bushnell Hart of Harvard today in a copyrighted article written for International News Service. At the crossroads of the most dangerous crisis to civilization in 100 years, Uncle Sam has been asleep in allowing exports of oil and war materials to Germany and Japan and others, he declares.

For vivid factual and pictorial comparison between Hitler and Napoleon, mentioned by Prof. Albert Bushnell Hart in accompanying article, see Pages 18 19.

By ALBERT BUSHNELL HART, A.B., Ph.D., LL.D., LITT.D.
Eaton Professor of the Science of Government, Emeritus, Harvard University

(Copyright, 1939, by International News Service)

Not since the Napoleonic era, which closed about 1818, has there been such an approach to world war as there is on this 22nd day of March, 1939, and in some respects the world is repeating the experiences of that period.

To compare Napoleon Bonaparte and Adolf Hitler is not possible because the great French champion was not only a leader of armies he was also a great constructive statesman who reorganized France and built up Europe after the crash of the French revolution while Hitler aims at the destruction of nations and the blotting out of their civilization.

Prof. Hart

At this moment the pivot of diplomacy and of what seems like imminent war on a great scale is the attitude of Russia.

CRISIS FACES WORLD

The present crisis most dangerous to civilization in the last 19 years has come to a test which both Germany and Russia have foreseen.

The last three years have finally culminated in the coming to the front of Russia in eastern European affairs.

Once the uncertainties of the whole situation has been that Russia sat still but it has been evident for many months that Hitler must stop or has to make or break either Poland, Russia or both together.

Russia has realize that the next step must be Poland or the annexation of eastern Europe and that to attack either means the immediate mass of Russia on the eastern front and this would mean a defensive war on northern and western fronts.

RUSS DEFEAT SEEN

Another vital attempt to put Soviet Russia out of business is off the usual frontier countries, part of Czechoslovakia did not prove the clash of armies in the east. It has made clear to mankind that the Germans expect to annex, the military and naval resources of Russia.

If Russia is downed all the small countries of eastern Europe must succumb and when Russia is made a satellite the road to central Asia is opened.

There is now a partnership of interests and ends and expectations between Germany and Japan.

At the other end of the world the Japanese are doing their best to destroy the Chinese nation. If they are successful the Chinese will become certainly slaves.

It is a melancholy fact that the United States by the non-military observer it seems probable that both Japan and Germany will continue their aggressions.

The first thing that ought to be done and must be done if we are to keep the status of neutrality is to cease furnishing the belligerents with materials of war, particularly aircraft and air fuel.

We are helpless furnishing oil and other military materials to France and England.

... to be a homely figure "we must put up or shut up."

If Germany should be successful in subjugating Europe, the next ... step would be the attempt ... all to the German empire ... the areas south of Texas. And there is no room for two first class powers on the American continents.

Britain Bares Nazi Threat to Lithuania

PEACE HERE

Hitler Enjoys Play Mocking 'Crisis'

LONDON, March 22 (INS)—While the capitals of Europe [illegible] next move, Reich Chancellor Hitler was roaring with laughter at a small Berlin theater [illegible] according to a dispatch today to the London Daily Mail.

Accompanied by Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels, Hitler [illegible] Adolf Wagner, who had been appointed to [illegible] ...ministry, Hitler [illegible] ...Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain [illegible] ...Britain's efforts to [illegible] ...Hitler and Goebbels remained in their seats during the intermission, sending out for bottles of soda water. The audience discovered that they were in the theater and there were repeated cries of "Heil Hitler."

LONDON, March 22 (AP)—The British government said Germany has [illegible] Lithuania with action [illegible] ...if the latter refuses [illegible] Memel to Berlin today.

Sir [illegible] Home Secretary [illegible] ...in the House of Commons [illegible] ...announcement was that [illegible] ...received a Nazi ultimatum previously intended to [illegible] ...Premier Kaunas.

Speaking to substitute for Prime Minister Chamberlain, following a cabinet meeting, Sir Samuel said:

"The Lithuanian minister for foreign affairs, recently in Berlin, received demands of the German government for immediate cession of Memelland to the Reich, coupled with a threat that in the event of resistance or appeal for support elsewhere, the matter would be dealt with, not diplomatically but in a military sense."

WEIGHS LEAGUE MEETING

Previously Sir Samuel had told the House that the government was considering calling a special meeting of the League of Nations to consider Germany's rapid expansion [illegible] ...by the absorption of Memel, yielded by Lithuania.

The government whip, Patrick Munro, declared that Britain is conducting military staff talks, through military attaches, with France, Soviet Russia, Denmark, Sweden, Yugoslavia, Rumania, Turkey, Greece and the Netherlands.

Munro answered "no" to a question by Josiah Wedgwood whether economic and military staff talks will be initiated with the United States concerning supplies they could make to this country and our allies in case of war being forced upon us."

[illegible] the German threat [illegible] Sir Samuel said that [illegible] government were [illegible] ...accepted the ultimatum [illegible] further demands would [illegible]

CONSCRIPTION OPPOSED

[illegible] questions on Rumania, Samuel said:

"The Rumanian government have officially denied that there has been any ultimatum from the German government . . ."

[illegible] substituted for Chamberlain [illegible] ...ving a meeting of the [illegible] ...which it was decided to [illegible] ...action because of German [illegible] ...sition of Memel.

[illegible] L. Mander, opposition [illegible] ...asked if the government [illegible] ...were considering immediate steps with a view to arrangements between France, Britain and Russia for joint action in restraint of aggression in association also with Poland, Rumania, Yugoslavia, Turkey, Holland and Denmark?"

Hoare replied that "the government are in communication with other governments."

PLOC DISCUSSED

[illegible] had met to consider [illegible] ...developments. Britain must undertake [illegible] ...expansion by [illegible] ...bloc against [illegible]

Britain has [illegible] France, Russia and Poland [illegible] ...profession [illegible] ...joined later by [illegible] ...Greece, Yugoslavia, Rumania and other nations if possible.

FOLLOWS RUSS CALL

The British [illegible] ...Russia's call for immediate consultation. The British considered an immediate conference premature and argued it would take foreign ministers from their capitals at a trying time.

Lith Navy Goes to Sea —Forever

Phantom of the bounding main—so he—the Lithuanian navy of one ship was missing today, with no home port for this navy any more.

Just before Hitler took over Memel, the city constituting Lithuanias' sole seaport, the one-ship navy, a converted German mine sweeper renamed Presidentas Smetona, thugged out of the harbor and headed for the sea.

Her destination was undisclosed, and so is her eventual disposition—for what good is a navy, even a one ship navy, to Lithuania if Lithuania has no port?

Germany Seizes Memel, Halts Flight of Refugees

[illegible] week after that in Czechoslovakia but he remained to [illegible] as an official Lithuanian delegation which will confer in Berlin on details of the German annexation.

The German storm troopers halted the frenzied flight of Jews and other refugees from the little territory.

The customs house at Poggegen in Memelland just across the East Prussian border was occupied by members of the German storm troop units.

Late afternoon the Memel radio station was broadcasting German military marches. Nazis in Memel city were making preparations for a triumphal entry of German troops whenever they arrive.

The Lithuanian government called up reservists to fill vacancies in the army depleted by the release of Memel conscripts from service.

The finance ministry suspended temporarily the withdrawal of bank deposits.

A Lithuanian defense military official learned that German storm troops crossed the frontier at Skirvyte disarmed Lithuanian frontier guards, stopped freight cars and trucks carrying refugees and prevented all of Memel and forbade all to leave the territory.

But a reporter this official said at one stopped the exodus of refugees. He declared that storm troopers even occupied the Memel lighthouse.

The official said the Lithuanian army in Memel now was ordered [illegible] equipment and that withdrawal of Lithuanian troops was imminent.

TROOPS WITHDRAWN

Earlier reports said the frontier guards and customs officials had been withdrawn overnight.

There was no telephone communication between Kovno and Memel 30 miles from the East Prussian border, but [illegible] communications left of hostilities reaching by Germans in [illegible] ports of Memel [illegible] the port of Lithuanians were [illegible] ports.

From East Prussia [illegible] in Memel [illegible] ships [illegible] of [illegible] poured out [illegible] declared after the government communique announcing the absorption of the territory was broadcast by radio.

They marched with swastikas waving over the Memel river bridge to Memel. Paggegen in Memelland where the townspeople greeted them wildly.

PLANES DRONE OVER MEMEL

Squadrons of planes [illegible] bedecked with swastikas but presumably German [illegible] over Memel. Church bells there clanged and singing storm troopers stamped through the streets as German officials took over postoffice telegraph and the governor's offices.

At a parade tonight Ernst Neumann Memel's veterans' leader will take the salute.

Windows in Memel flaunted the swastika and people [illegible] in the streets waved tiny flags and bouquets of flowers.

Dancing singing girls ran through the cobbled roadways.

The Lithuanian government by its decision to surrender Memel shadowy made it plain that it did not expect any help from the signatories of the Memel convention. This convention was signed May 8, 1924 by Lithuania, Russia, France, Italy and Japan. It placed the territory under Lithuanian sovereignty but with a large measure of local autonomy.

Lithuania had been prepared for today's shock by rumors circulating for several days. Railway station yards in Memel were loaded with military equipment last night the first indication of the evacuation of Lithuanian troops.

Herbert Hooper

So that his story may be thoroughly investigated, police today postponed court arraignment of Herbert E. Hooper 23, of East Me[illegible], unemployed [illegible] who was arrested while [illegible] a date from [illegible] after [illegible] has confessed to [illegible] to police.

He was [illegible] the Lineup this morning, and afterwards was returned to the Warren avenue police station where he will be held until tomorrow [illegible] another lineup.

Hooper told police he has "four starving children" and that he has been unemployed since he lost his job at Portsmouth, N. H., navy yard last June. He told detectives he borrowed $5 from an uncle to come here to visit his mother in Charlestown.

In Portsmouth he got a revolver from a friend, took a bus and rode to Boston. A holdup presented itself to his mind as the only way to get money quickly, but every shop he looked into yesterday contained three or four persons and he dared not risk it, he said.

Finally he stepped into the Washington street store of Sidney Rosenfeld, announced it was a holdup and was given all the money in the cash register, $13. [illegible] got into the shop. He had used a [illegible] when [illegible] was taken to headquarters and booked.

Detectives Maurice Kennedy, of Captain Hurley's detective squad, and Hooper, who was [illegible] of fraud [illegible] struggled and, the prisoner [illegible] Arsenal, [illegible] with three police [illegible] and Hooper was arrested.

SOLON BACKS NEW CIVIL SERVICE PLAN

Proposed reorganization of the Massachusetts civil service department is "necessary to restore public confidence in administration of the merit system," Representative Philip Barnet of New Bedford told the legislature's ways and means committee today.

[illegible] as a member of the [illegible] committee [illegible] which inspired the reorganization [illegible] Barnet remarked the [illegible] was [illegible] would [illegible] approximately $5 [illegible] more than the present civil [illegible] department.

"But we shouldn't screw things down so tight along economy lines that we run the risk of not doing a good job," he said.

[illegible] under consideration [illegible] create a five man board [illegible] civil service commission which would have its own director at a salary of $5,000 a year. Members of the commission serving solely as an appeal board would receive $1,000 a year.

Two speakers today urged a bill [illegible] for the proposed director.

They were Henry R. Atkinson of the Massachusetts Civic League and Representative Frederick B. Wyman of Somerville. Both said they felt a $5,000 salary wouldn't attract a sufficiently high type of civil service executive.

Grace Moore Sings Despite Her Illness

By RUTH MARSTERS

The half-way mark of the Metropolitan's spring season in Boston was duly noted last night with Charpentier's "Louise" presented to the usual well-dressed and interested audience.

If enthusiasm was somewhat less than that evoked by "Falstaff," [illegible] and Lemnitz, et al, there was [illegible] and [illegible]

Much of the success of the [illegible] has been due to Grace Moore's part in the [illegible] Miss Moore [illegible] Louise [illegible] of her recent [illegible] the [illegible] Puccini version of "La Boheme" [illegible]

DON AMECHE, John Barrymore, Claudette Colbert and Francis Lederer in "Midnight," opening tomorrow at the Metropolitan.

'Midnight' Has Boston Premiere

Local movie fans will see the Ameche-Colbert new romantic team on the Metropolitan screen tomorrow morning when "Midnight," Paramount's latest comedy romance is to have its New England debut.

Claudette Colbert and Don Ameche are the parties of the first and second part. They are supported by some of this studio's greatest stars, John Barrymore, Mary Astor, Francis Lederer, Hedda Hopper, Rex O'Malley and Elaine Barrie (Mrs. John Barrymore).

"Midnight" is the story of a young American fortune hunter who falls in love with a Parisian taxi driver but leaves him for bigger game.

John Barrymore, whose current screen wife is Mary Astor, is having considerable difficulty with her for she is flirting with Lederer, handsome playboy, who (Continued on Page 4, Col. 1)

'STAGE COACH' AT LOEWS

Walter Wanger's new feature drama, starring Claire Trevor and John Wayne, opens Friday at both Loew's State and Orpheum theaters. It is a story of pioneer courage, filmed before a striking background of Spanish buttes and mesas in Monument Valley, 300 miles from the nearest American railroad.

Louise Platt, George Bancroft, John Carradine, Andy Devine, Thomas Mitchell, Donald Meek and Berton Churchill are featured, all of the stars portraying stereotyped characters gets thrown together with the outbreak of progress from Tonto, Arizona, to Lordsburg, New Mexico.

John Wayne portrays the role of Kid Ringo, who has been driven to outlawry by persecutors and is determined to kill Ivans Claire Trevor, impersonates Dallas, a woman who has been framed out of town by the self-righteous citizenry.

Among the others in a Virginia-born expectant mother, a mysterious gambler, a lecturing banker, a blustering bank absconder, a timid whiskey drummer.

The Life of Christ

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR

Our Saviour Heals the Sick

By COLLIN CLINE

THE PROFOUNDLY respectful painting by the great artist Schonherr illustrates a scene that was almost a daily happening during Christ's earthly mission.

Wherever He went, the aged and sick came seeking relief from their infirmities.

Lepers, banished from society because of the infectious nature of their disease, touched His garments and were healed.

Sometimes as in the case of Lazarus, bodies already decomposed were made to rise from the grave.

Nothing was impossible for the Son of God. It was necessary only that the supplicant should believe in Him and acknowledge His divinity.

Of course Jesus was not chiefly concerned with material things. When He restored a body to health and perfection His purpose was to prove that the same Power which could contribute to physical well-being could also save immortal souls.

That was what He meant when He said to the skeptical Pharisees: "Is it easier to say to the sick of the palsy 'Thy sins be forgiven thee' or to say 'Arise take up thy bed and walk.'"

TOMORROW'S CHAPTER of the holy life of Christ brings us close to the sorrowful events leading to the Saviour's death on the cross. To illustrate this important chapter, the Boston Evening American will reproduce Guido Reni's famous painting, "Ecce Homo."

FAD EDUCATION irks Dr. Henry M. Wriston, Brown University's sensible president. He asks: "Has humanitarianism gone soft?" In simpler language, "Is life being made too easy for young people?"

In support of the contention that this is what is happening, Dr. Wriston speaks of colleges that offer courses in "charm," "happy marriage," "poise," history without dates, English without grammar and foreign languages without vocabularies.

"It is not enough," he says, "to give students credits which indicate they merely WENT to college. It is necessary to enable them to RETAIN some of the knowledge that is served to them."

One does not have to waste words arguing that this is good advice—good for students, good for educators generally and particularly good for parents and taxpayers who make sacrifices to keep girls and boys in school.

True education requires WORK, THOUGHT and ACTION.

A CURIOUS FEELING grips a person as he sits in the White House rooms, says Mrs. Roosevelt.

"When I am working late in my study, where many Presidents have worked, I get the distinct sensation that there is somebody in the room," she explains.

It is not necessary to be a believer in spooks, spirits or spectres to agree with the charming First Lady.

One has only to look at the sky-rocketing national debt, unprecedented unemployment, soaring taxes and the dynamite-like international situation.

If that combination won't give any house the jitters, nothing will.

Human Side of News -1- by EDWIN C. HILL

COLD WINDS may blow and snow may carpet the frozen ground here in parts of the East. But in Southern California Spring has arrived, ushered in by St. Joseph's swallows arriving from their winter homes in Mexico or South America to reopen their summer apartments in the old mission of San Juan Capistrano.

Not in 70 years have the swallows failed to return to their old nests to be on hand for the feast of St. Joseph's Day, as the mission fathers aver.

Each 19th of March for all those 70 years they have come winging in on schedule, and each 23rd of October they have departed with a vast flutter of wings. Generation after generation, decade after decade the swallows have followed this schedule.

RETURNING SWALLOWS
Nothing More Mysterious

YET THERE IS always a degree of doubt and concern on the part of the old-time inhabitants as to whether the little time clock in the swallow's group will might slip or fail, whether they are arriving or departing.

When morning broke in California, every niche and cranny of the adobe walls of the old San Juan Capistrano Mission was occupied by a family of swallows. For it was March 19, St. Joseph's Day in the calendar of the Catholic Church, and countless swallows returned in their thousands from some remote winter retreat returned to the summer home they have occupied for as long as living men can remember.

On the morning of St. Joseph's Day every year the sky is black with them for hours. They appear from somewhere in the Pacific to circle over the ancient mission and with the concerted rush like the charge of an army, they invade it. Purple- and yellow-tail sparrows

WHEN THE MORNING of the 23rd of next October comes the swallows will seem to be going about their business as usual. Presently a great fluttering is heard. At no time a few will fly high above the mission circling as if in exultation. And before 1 p. m. they are gone.

Nothing is more mysterious than the great flocks gathering over the roofs of houses and inflying on schedule.

"Inherited memory" seems to be a good answer but the ornithologists quickly add by saying that no one really knows whether birds have memory as we know it.

Girl About Town -1- by MARGUERITE DOWNEY

THERE'S no more interested spectator of the opera's gilded pageantry than Deputy Superintendent John T. O'Dea. Since the season was revived thirteen years ago, he's attended every performance, directing traffic.

In the last decade the spectacle has changed. Just about one-fifth the number of town cars are in evidence and more than likely their occupants will be wearing imitation jewels instead of famous gems. This season he's counted only three men wearing Inverness capes and not a great many more in toppers.

When the opera season's over he's as busy with debutante parties and fashionable weddings as a society editor. But such gold-edged doings have tarnished a bit. Few all-night parties are held and he has not heard of a five-day wedding celebration since '29.

THOSE DO-YOU-KNOW posters are the brain children of Henry Hastings Fenton Advertising Co. manager who conceived the idea as a means of stimulating interest in street car advertising. It has accomplished that purpose with over twelve hundred complete cards. Letters and post cards received daily from the 1000 car riders reading them. The one about Dike's peak has created the greatest furore.

Sets of different types of cards have always been prepared and then are changed from one city to another every three months. It's a great means of educating the public.

Peace Can Win -1- by HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The Allies did not conquer the Central Powers by military victory in 1918. The German home front gave way before the military front even bent. Both economic strangling and clever, Allied propaganda in Germany did the trick.

Our insistence that we were fighting the Kaiser and not the German people and Mr. Wilson's 14 points were very effective in Germany. More effective still was a deliberate economic strangulation that added privation to discouragement and a growing conviction in civilian Germany that it would be both better and holier to yield to such "generous" victors than to fight for the Kaiser and his kind.

EVERY RESOURCE of the greater wealth and credit of the Allies, and especially of America, was used to block Germany.

Adroit financial moves were made to destroy her credit in all parts of the world.

Everything that moved, on land or sea, was halted or diverted if it might reach the Central Powers.

This was modern economic and man military victory into civilian defeat.

The Germans were driven to Hitler by the unbearable burdens of the Treaty of Versailles and the betrayal in the peace of Mr. Wilson and his 14 points.

What is being done to convince them that there are measures short of ruthless force to right don't need Mr. Hitler and his gangster methods?

What has happened to show them that they don't have to starve within their own borders?

ON THE OTHER HAND what is being done by the European democracies to convince them that if they continue down Hitler's way, the economic barriers will become even higher and harder until they cannot live?

On the World War strategy, these two things must go together—a way out through peace—proof that there is no way out through war. It is not now our problem and we are too far from its details to judge it.

Maybe all that could be done is being done. But it doesn't seem so.

JUST ANOTHER PROOF that the social butterfly can be a successful "working gal" when she puts her mind to it is the annual advertising campaign for the program of the Vincent Club show . . .

For over two months the club's new members have been pounding the pavements soliciting ads from bankers and business men, and they bring in such good returns that the program is about twenty pages larger than usual . . .

The Barbour girls have evidently learned the secret of salesmanship, for Louisa, who is popularly known as "Baby," has won the prize for selling more ads than any other deb . . . Her sister, Julia, won the same distinction when she was a debutante, and this year she has directed the advertising campaign . . .

Running "Baby" a close second was attractive Betsy Chalifoux, who has successfully combined a social and amateur business career for the past two months . . . Jean Halladay won third prize.

The girls were divided into teams under post debutante captains . . . Ellen Moseley's team had the best average, with Susan Russell and Dorothy West leaders of the other prize winning groups . . .

Vincent Clubbers at Opera

MANY OF THE VINCENT CLUBBERS took advantage of their final opportunity to attend the opera last evening . . . for the dress rehearsal takes place tonight and the show goes on the other three evenings of the week . . . Elizabeth Parker, one of the executive committee for the show, took her place in the brilliant Golden Horseshoe to hear Grace Moore's lovely singing of "Louise" . . . and Diana Bird, who will sing a French duet with Nancy Blumer in the show, undoubtedly got some good pointers from the Parisian Opera . . . She was all in snowy white, with a becoming ermine cape and a cluster of white orchids in her hair . . . Polly Blodgett took time out from Vincent and skating carnival rehearsals to attend the opera with a tall escort . . . her black dress enhanced by cerise velvet gloves and a matching purse . . .

Debs who have attended several in Paris didn't need to study the libretto between the acts for "Louise" is a gay and melodious opera written in Fren . . .

There seemed to be more fabulous jewels on display than on previous evenings . . . Outstanding among them were Mrs. J. A. Lowell Blake's diamond [illegible] which sparkled against her black gown, the diamond [illegible] worn by Mrs. Nathaniel Sumpkins and Mrs. Charles Bacon, and the [illegible] emerald necklace and earrings which added [illegible] beauty to Mary Otis' gold lame costume . . .

Cerise Is Fashionable

CERISE WAS CHOSEN by many fashionable women to add a note of contrast to their gowns . . . Priscilla Thorndike and her beau shared a table for two in the refreshment room . . . her cerise gown adorned with triangular diamond clips . . . Anne Knowles wore a tangerine taffeta gown, made with row after row of cartridge tucks . . . and Elizabeth Motley looked as winsome as ever in black velvet, with coral revers and a coral flower on top of her hair . . .

Forrester A. Clark joined Mr. and Mrs. William C. Cox in the latter's box . . . Mrs. George Putnam was accompanied by two of her younger daughters . . . and others in the throng were Mrs. Richard Storey, Mrs. John Lawrence, Mrs. Samuel Eliot with her daughter, Mary, whose blonde hair was adorned with a diamond studded black net veil, and Mrs. Hobart Spaulding, who carried a bunch of fresh violets to match the violet print of her gown . . .

Sale Aids Scholarship Fund

The Boston College auditorium will be the scene of much hectic bidding when the Junior Philomathea stages its annual penny sale Monday evening in aid of the scholarship fund.

A number of prizes ranging from a Bermuda cruise and including radios, chests and silver plate and other valuables have been donated by the committee, headed by Mrs Byron G. Tas and her aides, Mary Elena and Angela Albre.

One of the evening's most profitable and colorful ventures will be the flower mart which Frances Rattigan of Hyde Park is directing. All sorts of blooms, from freshcut flowers to sturdy house plants, will be on sale at the booth.

Presiding over it will be an attractive bevy of club members gaily attired in crepe paper hats and perky aprons. Among those volunteering as flowers venders are Mary Herlihy, Helen Bulger, Grace Rattigan, Margaret Coop, Helen Carroll, Ruth Joyce, Mary Craig, Dorothy Carney, Vera Laudner, Catherine Sheehan, Anne Conley and Mary Falvey.

You Can be Beautiful

By ARLINE GOULD

How would you like to have lovely, lustrous eyes this big, with long, silky lashes sweeping over them with devastating effect? All right, so you haven't.

Lacking such gifts of nature, then, how would you like to find a mascara that would fool the boys into thinking your eyes were endowed with all this, and that would say "go all evening."

Honest, it's no dream. There is such a thing, and the girls who have never been able to depend on mascara, on account of their eyes looked sort ringed along about midnight, can be heard cheering for miles.

This is an imported [illegible] which the makers prefer to call eye cosmetique. It contains no soap, no analine dyes, no coal tar products, no acid or alkaline substances. It is made of pure vegetable in a fatty base of natural oils.

But and this is the big news

It is non-smarting. To prove it the manufacturers beg you to brush a few strokes on the back of the hand now to-day for 20 seconds, and then place your hand under running water and see for yourself.

GLORIA ESCAPES THROUGH WINDOW

CHAPTER 21

GLORIA stood with a trance-like calm until she heard Steve's voice. Then, taking a deep breath, she lifted her head to the wind and looked him in the other side. The sound was her overnight bag.

In another moment she had wriggled through the window and was sitting on the ground.

Albert crawled meekly under the fence.

"Come here, boy! Come here!"

She paused at the sound of voices and dragging the overnight bag, got out Albert's leash and fastened it to his collar. "Come on, Albert! We've got a hard night."

She set off down the hill urging the reluctant dog along. He tried sitting down and stretching himself out on the ground but soon found it was no use. He just had to keep going.

Steve saw her. He started to run. Gloria ran faster. She could hear Steve's voice calling to her. "Gloria! Gloria! Come back!"

But Gloria ran on. She was sobbing. Albert began to reach his back. That was enough for her. Without a backward glance she fled from the road.

Underbrush got in her way. She could not see when she could not. Gloria knew she was right through Albert's collar showed that those woods were the thickest and that the light was beginning to fade.

It was time to get back to the road and camp. And then in gathering panic she realized that she hadn't the slightest idea in what direction the road lay.

Down at the edge of the lake the [illegible] walked again. A head [illegible] man's head.

Steve and Corporal Thurner. Gloria was shivering, and Big Bill was a menace.

"Let's go taking him on [illegible] Who do you know about [illegible]?"

He knew of no one to depend on but—

"Second in Bad Bessie?" You bet. I'm New York boy myself—he [illegible] up to me—and we [illegible] to keep him [illegible] I'm much obliged. I think we'll better take another look."

BRADSHAW Woolen, Worsted Recovery Record

By HUGH E. BRADSHAW
Financial Editor

Seekers of good news items on important industries need look no further than wooden and worsted textiles for this key consumer's goods industrial division with such important New England units has been compiling a real recovery record.

Complete figures on January wool consumption are now available. The National Association of Wool Manufacturers reports that consumption for the month was double that of January last year. And 20 per cent above the estimated normal. With seven months and all major producing areas taking top honors. Both registered gains and each showed some decrease.

CURRENT OUTLOOK . . . For the industry hinges on the success of the fall season. Customer reaction to new styles will be the deciding factor as to whether or not the industry is headed for another period of feverish activity. The trade as a whole seems to be optimistic in its answers to this question. And while wool has moved sharply upward in the past year, the relative steadiness of prices bears out the contention that the present rise is not a speculative one.

ANNUAL BANQUET . . . The tenth annual banquet of the Boston Credit Bureau Inc. was held at the Copley Plaza last night. Credit men from all parts of New England, Boston stores the Governor and many other prominent officials of credit organizations of its kind in the country.

Edward W. Joyce introduced the master of ceremonies, Paul Siegel. Other speakers were H. Paul Rix, J. Lowell Mackell . . . Hon. Frankland W. L. Mayor Maurice J. Tobin . . . officers of the Boston Credit Bureau for the year. Edward W. Joyce, vice president . . . And James F. Lawrence, treasurer . . . And James F. Lawrence, treasurer.

Edw. W. Joyce | Mrs. Paul Siegel | Paul Siegel

U. S. Commissioner Harry S. Guterman | President Bernard Fagen | Public Relations Director E. A. Brest

NEW DIRECTOR . . . For Boston directed the A. Murray Co. . . . O. J. Egleston, vice president and has been elected to fill a vacancy. And T. J. Lee elected to the executive committee. And re-elected to the executive committee. And re-elected to the executive committee organizing the annual report.

STILL GAINING . . . Over last year's earnings reported in the latest Boston Edison Co. was Electric Institute . . . For the period ended March 1 the company's output 6.6 per cent . . . Over the corresponding period a gain of 9.4 per cent was shown.

PROFITS . . . Are currently being earned by many companies. And by extraordinary events President A. expects to continue doing so . . . Not every item, but President Colby says depositors those losing money. John P. Marquand due to inability to attend all meetings. President of Ludlow Manufacturing Associates.

Stock Prices Break Anew On War Fears

NEW YORK, March 22 (INS)—A new wave of selling swept the stock market today on Germany's latest move in grabbing Memel from Lithuania and reports of additional mass troop movements in Europe.

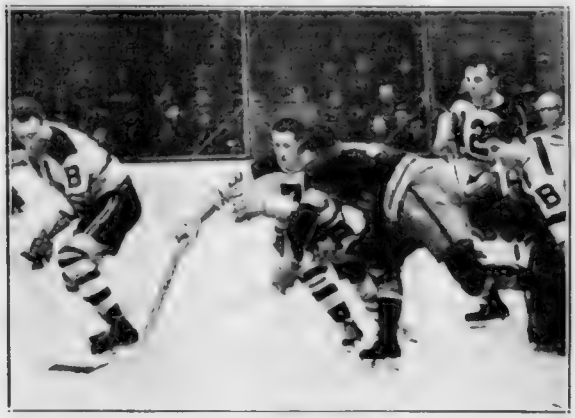
BIG "A" for effort. Cowboy Bill Cowley comes in on the Rangers all alone and his efforts are thwarted by four Rangers. Bill kept pressing all the way, however. It was his goal in the third period that deadlocked the clash. The Bruins went on from there to finally win out.



BRAKES NEEDED. Roy Conacher, brilliant Bruins' freshman, came roaring in on Davey Kerr in the third overtime period and although he did not score, Roy smashed into Kerr with such force that Davey was forced to take a 15-minute rest period. He injured his shoulder but resumed play. Shortly after, the Bruins scored to win.

AWAY GOES Pettinger. After a nice save by Brimsek, Gordon picks up the loose puck and sets sail. "Pett" played smart hockey all night. This was one of his many alert defensive plays.

OUT COMES Mr. Kerr and Mr. Schmidt's (No. 15) effort for the Bruins is nullified. Shibicky (No. 4) and Pratt (No. 11) look on. Kerr needed no assistance here. It was the great work of the Ranger goalie that resulted in the three overtime periods.

Austen Lake:

Bruins Convinced RangersSturdy Foe

NEW YORK, March 22

THERE, MY MANY LOVING READERS, was as rousing a game of world series hockey as ever warmed the cockles of New York's rubbish throwing public. Without any carnage or the grim spectra of rowdyism baring its fangs, the game ended 2 to 1 for the Bruins with the patrons' eyeballs and tonsils raw from glaring through the smoke-fogged cavern and yelling a conscientious four hours' worth.

AUSTEN LAKE

The Bruins came out very apathetic and casual, as though expecting the Rangers to dip their knees to royalty. But apparently the Rangers hadn't read the Bruins' clippings, because they started the hostilities in the second period by firing everything but their false teeth at Frank Brimsek, the Boston goalie, who picked pucks out of his stomach like a monkey ridding himself of nits. And presently Babe Pratt, the New York defenseman with the freight handler's body and girl-scout's face sauntered upon the right bank, easy and carefree and slithered the puck over to Alex Shibicky, who was going hellity poop. And there was the Rangers' goal.

This seemed to light a burner under the Bruins who set out then to some old fashioned muscle-bruising in the next period. A scout named Art Hiller was doing time in the corner for something pretty awful while the Bruins were swarming around the chicken coop and handling the puck around like the last cupcake at a ladies' bridge bee.

And after they had passed it around a couple of times and everybody had relaxed politely, Dit Clapper said "Pshaw, if nobody else wants it." And gave it a gashmughty shove. Bill Cowley, of the Bruins was standing near the net with his stick held out and the puck just flipped off without his knowing about it. And there was your first Bruins goal.

* * *

Hill Invents New Ice Attack

So matters moved into the third overtime with everybody getting crew and sulky. And finally the Bruins settled into a gang formation and took to bulldogging the Rangers by sticking out their fundamentals and inserting their sticks between people's legs and grabbing handfuls of clothing.

And suddenly Hill, who is a kind of a mother's helper for the Bruins, winged away in a big letter S. It was his own idea, so the rest of the team just leaned on their hockey handlers and watched him go [illegible]. But pretty soon he was around the left end and in the corner, where he banged an angular shot that squirted through a knot hole in Kerr's wooden leg. And that was all there was.

Still, there shouldn't have been any overtime at all last night. The Bruins would have won over the regulation distance, if it hadn't been for Referee Mickey Ion's curious accident. The score was still 1 to 0 in the third period with the Bruins forming a kind of subway game in front of the Ranger net and Mickey was scooting down the sideboards stretching his neck to see what was going on.

And suddenly Big Art Coulter, the red-raw heavy duty man of the Rangers, sealed up under a full head of steam and spilled Mickey right over the dashboard and into a lady customer's lap. The lady spilled too, so there was Mickey tangled up in a lot of female lingerie on the floor of the guest section and before he could get himself loose from the lively creature's raiment, Bobby Bauer of the Bruins had pushed the rubber plug right into the Ranger net.

* * *

Referee Ion Rules Out Goal

Well, sir, there was quite a to-do. Mickey came up with a segment of petticoat about his ears, clawing and gesticulating. From his motions it was clear that he would not let the Bruins have that goal. And presently, sure enough the growly voice in the electric horns said, "Mr. Ion refuses to allow the goal on account of he could not see it."

As if that was any reason! Everybody, including the 14,986 customers, 74 members of the press and the linesmen, whose eyesight had been duly certified by the president of the League, saw it.

But Mickey stubbornly insisted that a goal he could not see was just no goal at all. So it was no goal. And from the glow on the puss of Lester Art Ross, you knew that he was having a tumult in his soul. In fact there was not much to choose between the shade of the red light over the Ranger's cage and the crimson glory of Arthur's jowls as they dropped down over his collar like melting tallow from a Christmas candle.

But in the end, justice was served. Because Clapper stuffed in his glancing shot a moment later and in the third overtime period Roy Conacher, the child protege bumped the New York goalie so hard that he had to go to the Garden infirmary with what the amplifiers described as a "dislocation in the fifth lumbar area."

He still seemed pretty well dislocated when he came back a little later. Which may be why he couldn't angle out of the way enough to smother Hill's winning shot and why, when the goal was scored the Garden sanitary crew had to sweep him up and trundle him away for treatment with surgical plaster and 50c worth of [illegible].

Bruins Hail Hill, Cowley Heroes of Opening Clash

By BILL GRIMES

EN ROUTE TO BOSTON—After taking a 2-to-1 decision from Rangers in the first game of the Stanley Cup elimination series last night at Madison Square Garden, a tired but happy and confident Bruin squad is on its way home to meet the Streamliners tomorrow night at the Boston Garden.

Because Mel Hill scored the decided goal, with seconds to play in the third overtime period, peace reigns supreme in the Bruins' camp. But, had the verdict been awarded to Rangers, it would not be safe for friend or foe to be within an arm's length of even the most peaceful Bruin.

Bobby Bauer should be the toast of Bruin fans today. The little right winger had two goals disallowed. Early in the third period, Bobby beat Davie Kerr but Mickie Ion declared that Woody Dumart had cross checked Ott Heller and refused to allow the goal. The truth of the mater is that Heller, who incidentally was playing with a broken stick, fell before Dumart reached him and the goal should have been allowed.

MEL HILL

In the third period, one of the strangest accidents ever seen in a hockey game robbed Bauer of another goal.

REFEREE TURNS TUMBLER

Herbie Schmidt entered the Ranger zone on the right wing boards. Mus Patrick raced over and threw a block at the Bruin center. It so happened that Mickie Ion was between Schmidt and the boards when Muz crashed into the puck carrier. The result was that both Ion and Schmidt catapulted over the fence.

Just as he took off, "Schmiddy" centered the puck and it was picked up by Bobby Bauer. With Ion and Schmidt off the ice and struggling to regain their feet, Bobby went around the Ranger net and flipped the puck into the net.

While the Bruins were patting Bauer on the back for his great play, Referee Ion stuck his head up over the fence and waved his hand that the goal didn't count, as he was off the ice and didn't see the goal.

Mickie Ion's tumbling act might have cost the Bruins the game and possibly the Stanley Cup. And, there's no question but that Manager Art Ross would now be back in New York communicating with President Frank Calder over Ion's ruling but for the fact that Mel Hill's third overtime period goal gave them the verdict.

BOTH TEAMS CAUTIOUS

The game, for the most part was a drab affair. Both teams played cautiously most of the time. The Rangers were instructed to cover Roy Conacher and Bill Cowley, and it looked as though somebody had dropped a hint that New York's chances of victory would be improved if Conacher and Cowley were forced to retire.

Just as soon as Conacher appeared on the ice in the first period Art Coulter charged up from his defense position and hit the Bruin winger a terrific body check, which he followed up by crashing an elbow into the rookie's face. It was a deliberate foul for Conacher was not carrying the puck, nor had he had possession of it. Play was [illegible] for a few minutes [illegible] Cowley.

COULTER DOES DIRT

When Mickie Ion finally decided that Coulter had gone far enough and sent him off for tracking Conacher with another elbow check, the Rangers started to whine with Mus Patrick leading the moaners.

Roy Conacher took everything that the Rangers dealt out, and despite the fact that some Streamliner was always within a couple of feet of him, managed to figure in the first Boston goal. He whipped a wing to wing pass across to Dit Clapper in the third period which started the play on which Bill Cowley scored the tieing goal.

Due to his experience in previous play off games, Bill Cowley was quick to see that he was a marked man. Like Conacher, Bill got the well known "business" soon after his initial appearance. But, unlike Conacher, Cowley refused to take it without giving a receipt. And, frequently, Bill handed out the receipt before he got the "works."

In the first overtime period, Ott Heller cross checked Cowley with his stick and Bill took the count. It looked like he was badly injured, but after receiving first aid treatment from Trainer Frank Jones, he resumed play.

Bill Cowley played a remarkable game. He was watched very closely every second he was on the ice. Yet, he scored one goal and set up the play for the winning marker.

"When he scored in the third period, Cowley was completely surrounded by Rangers. He was just outside the crease when Clapper centered the puck. And, how he centered it. It was traveling a mile a minute, going so fast in fact that Cowley couldn't do anything but hold his stick on the ice and hope to deflect it into the cage, which he succeeded in doing.

BILL COWLEY

And, while on the subject of goals, the Ranger tally was a horseshoe.

With "Goalie" Pettinger in the penalty box late in the second period, the Rangers opened up.

They drove in on Brimsek, milled around in Boston territory, fired shots from all angles, and at one time Clint Smith had Frankie Brimsek out of the cage, but missed the opening net.

Then, Neil Colville and Babe Pratt combined and the former drove in Alex Shibicky uncovered. Neil passed to Alex, who shot the puck between Herbie Schmidt's

Hawks Ask Waivers on Five

CHICAGO, March 22 (AP)—The Chicago Blackhawks' front office apparently wasn't fooling when rebuilding plans for the cellar team of the National Hockey League were announced two weeks ago.

President William J. Tobin revealed waivers had been asked on Ross Blinco, Earl Robinson, Bob Gracie, Bobby Northcott, Jack Shill and Charley Mason.

Contracts for next season had not been offered to any member of the present skuad, he added.

The only man certain to return is Paul Thompson, who recently signed a contract as player-manager for 1939-40. Thompson is now in western Canada scouting for talent.

The Hawks won the championship last season, but never got going this year, failing to qualify for the Stanley Cup playoff which began last night.

UNTOLD STORIES OF THE RING

BY JACK CONWAY

When Mike Jacobs of the Twentieth Century Club brought Max Schmeling from Germany to battle Joe Louis in New York in June, 1936, he didn't think he was doing the German a favor.

[illegible] The Brown Bomber was a big favorite in the [illegible] New York [illegible]

[illegible] Max Schmeling Barney Ross and [illegible] Jacobs was [illegible] was supposed to fight Max Baer in the [illegible] that Max agreed to defend the [illegible] Baer. [illegible] Schmeling was the champion [illegible] Max Baer [illegible] the grandstand [illegible] of the arena [illegible] where he had won the na- [illegible] Joe had [illegible] weight, and was [illegible] over second and [illegible] class heavyweights as it [illegible] were a dime a dozen.

Joe didn't say much other [illegible] as he passed an impres- [illegible] of victories.

JOE LIKES ICE CREAM

"I like ice cream," said Louis.

"If you become champion, you will have to cut down on your ice cream or somebody will knock you out with a body punch," I said jokingly.

"Nobody is going to knock me out," replied Louis. "My next bout is with Max Schmeling. His only dangerous punch is a right to the jaw, but I shall be too fast for him. Schmeling was on the way out when he lost to Sharkey."

[illegible] Louis fought over [illegible]

It is always a mistake for a young fighter to underrate an opponent, I [illegible]," I said. "The old fox can still hit even if he is [illegible] years old. He may not be able to run to first base, but he can hit. All you have to do is to make one mistake with Schmeling and he will put you out of the picture. Remember what Schmeling did to Risko and Stribling."

Louis continued to eat the ice cream. He was young and had been winning steadily.

Louis found out the mistake when Schmeling landed a right hand to his jaw in the fourth round and dropped him to the canvas.

When Louis got up he showed a lack of caution. He didn't want to go the distance just a dumb boy.

MAX TOOK HIS TIME

"I could have knocked Louis out any time I wished after the first knockdown," Schmeling told me in his suite at the Hotel Commodore, New York, immediately after the bout.

"But there was no occasion to take chances. I took my time, and finished Louis off in the eleventh round. Somebody will have to teach Louis not to hold his chin up like a target. Otherwise he will get his ears pinned back every time he meets a first-class opponent."

Mike Jacobs wept real tears when Louis lost, as he had planned to stage a Louis-Braddock bout in co-operation with the New York Garden, which had the champion under contract. Mike was also fearful Louis was on the way out if Joe could get so much out of the Tacoman Century Club.

Jacobs used the telephone and called Jimmy Buckley in Boston.

"I note Jack Sharkey just licked Phil Brubaker in Boston," said Mike. "Ask Jack to take enough time off from his tavern to come to New York to fight Louis."

The Sharkey of the Wills fight would have bored Louis dizzy. Even though handicapped by a badly cut eye before the match, Sharkey gave Louis trouble for a few rounds, and [illegible]

"What if I didn't make anything on the fight?" demanded Jacobs. "Haven't I got the champion?"

Jacobs then put Louis in a glass case. He imported Tommy Farr from England to meet Joe.

"I didn't want the Farr-Louis bout," Jacobs told me, "but I didn't want Schmeling to beat me to the Welshman. A London promoter sought a Schmeling-Farr bout, and if Max won, as I thought he would, he might have taken the play away from the 'Brown Bomber.'"

Schmeling was promised a bout with Louis if he won. Although [illegible] [illegible] the champion he loved [illegible] [illegible] He then [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] were hard which enabled him to [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

In justice to Braddock, it should be stated he fought his best against Louis. He carried the fight to his younger opponent, and tossed punches in reckless style.

McKechnie's Reds Most Improved Club in League

By HERB FINNEGAN

TAMPA, Fla., March 22—Cincinnati's Reds get another shot at our Boston Sox in this wind-swept city today, and we're expecting the Rhinelanders to reverse the decision the Cronins got over them at Sarasota last Saturday.

Not that our Red Sox aren't good. They're very good, but the Reds, from this corner, look like the team of the year.

They shellacked the Bees, 8-1, Sunday, and if Foxx and Tabor didn't have springs in their legs they would have routed the Sox as well.

Last year the Reds didn't have quite what it takes to cop the N. L. gonfalon. Grissom was out; their infield was below standard; they had no reserve power.

It's different this year.

Grissom is back in old time form. The Bees couldn't hit him with a banjo.

Bill Werber hopped over from the junior circuit to take care of the hot corner.

Bill got off a plane just in time to face the Bees Sunday, and Frankie Frisch is still raving about his play.

Temperament curbed, he will be a big improvement over Wally Riggs, and he will add speed to an already fast club.

BILL EXPERIMENTING

At short and second, Bill McKechnie is experimenting with Nolan Richardson and Eddie Joost.

Both are minor league veterans from the Yankee chain system, and although they never could catch on with the parent club, you must remember that Crosetti and Gordon are no setups.

At least they have the bulge on Billy Myers and Linus Frey, 1938 regulars.

Richardson couldn't hit well enough to suit the Yanks, so McKechnie got great satisfaction recently when his new shortstop defied the McCarthy clan with a 12th inning homer after saving the game in the ninth with a miraculous stop the other side of second base.

Joost is weak going to his right but McKechnie says he plans to start the season with him. He stands up to the plate well.

But whether Richardson or Myers starts at short, Joost or Frey at second, the fact remains that there is some spirited competition for the jobs. There wasn't a year ago.

McCORMICK AT FIRST

At first is Frank McCormick (.325), who made the all-star team as a freshman last year. He's great.

Berger and Craft are all set in left and center, respectively. The Red Sox think highly of Craft.

Craft hit only .270 last year, but he'll probably add 40 points to that this year. He looks as if he had arrived. Fast, too, and a great fielder.

In right Bongiovanni is getting the call over Ival Goodman. Bongy can hit, so can Goodman; but here again whether Goodman or Bongy starts, the Reds are well fortified there. And for a right-handed hitting spare there is the fleet Frenchy Bordagaray, from the Cards. They had neither Bongy nor Bordagaray last year.

Ernie Lombardi, league batting king, is still behind the plate, and if he ever needs a rest the Reds can toss in Jimmy Wilson, who got three hits against the Bees Sunday, one of them a bunt. Imagine beating out a bunt at his age!

PROUD OF MOORE

But his pitching is the thing!

McKechnie's justly proud of his work with Whitey Moore.

At Syracuse Moore was considered a much better prospect than Vander Meer. Well, he was a flop with the Reds until McKechnie took over, and last summer he pitched hitless ball one day until the last man came to bat in the ninth. He's been great this spring.

And the Scot is high in praise of 21-year-old rookie right hander Junior Thompson, who numbers a victory over the Yanks among his achievements this spring.

There are, too, Paul Derringer (21-14), Peaches Davis, Bucky Walters, Gene Schott and No-hit Vandy.

Vandy gets out of the hospital tomorrow where he was taken last week with an inflamed appendix. McKechnie says he'll be as good as ever, but I doubt it.

Johnny's appendix ruptured on him several years ago, and he never did have it out. It looks like a chronic case.

But, despite his no-hitters, I think the Reds will be well off for pitchers even without Vandy.

Better pitching, better hitting, better infield. Yup, the Reds have it all right.

That 10-game series with the Red Sox, starting in Macon, Ga., Monday, April 3 and finishing in Roanoke, Va., Wednesday, April 12, ought to be a whiz.

Would it be a World Series preview, by any chance?

SUNSHINE BIG HELP TO COONEY

By JOE CASHMAN

BRADENTON, Fla., March 22—Johnny Cooney, native Rhode Islander, has grown up to be Florida's greatest booster.

The erstwhile pride of Cranston celebrated his 37th birthday last week. For his age he's the youngest-looking, fastest and most agile of big leaguers.

And he gives Florida all the credit.

Johnny Cooney

"I've been a 'Cracker' for eight years and I'm proud of it," he declares. "I'm satisfied I'd have been all washed up as a player long since if I hadn't decided back in 1931 to make my permanent off-season home in Sarasota.

"Living in a climate where I get sun and can keep active golfing and fishing all winter has kept me young and enabled me to hang on."

In making the Red Sox spring home his winter home, Cooney set a style which many ball players have since copied.

Sarasota's citizens now include Wes Ferrell, "Heinie" Manush, Paul Waner, Denny Galehouse, Lloyd Brown, Garland Braxton and Bob Burke, while neighboring towns like Bradenton and St. Petersburg are luring more and more of the diamond fraternity every off season.

Many managers frown on the idea of their charges wintering in warm climes. They opine that year-round heat tends to make the average athlete sluggish during a pennant race. They'd rather have players, particularly native Northerners, get a taste of ice and snow between seasons.

Cooney takes issue with these pilots.

"A young player," Johnny contends "might profit from wintering in the north but once a player reaches the 30 mark, he adds years to his playing life by absorbing all the heat and sunshine he can when he isn't actively engaged on the ball field.

"More and more veteran big leaguers are beginning to realize this and are hurrying South when the season is over.

BILL'S SPORT-O-GRIMES

NEW YORK, March 22—Judging from their actions this morning, you'd never suspect that the Bruins had played three overtime periods last night . . . They were full of the old pep, and, naturally, in a very elated frame of mind . . . They had beaten Rangers in a cautiously played game, which is not their type of hockey . . . The crowd didn't fill Madison Sq. Garden by a long shot . . . Walter A. Brown, general manager of the Boston Garden, drove over with Ray Lapham and watched the game from a seat directly behind the Bruin bench . . . The Rangers covered Roy Conacher like a blanket . . . And they didn't pass up a chance to give the Bruin rookie the "business," particularly Mr. Coulter.

Woody Dumart

Mrs. Ross must be down to her normal weight, if not a few pounds shy . . . She sat in a rail box to the end . . . Many of the cash customers deserted after the first overtime, during which new ice was made . . . Joe Daly, former Bostonian, now an NBC executive, was on hand to pull for the Rossmen . . . But he seems to be far more interested in the Red Sox chances of winning the pennant than in hockey.

Woody Dumart received just one penalty during the regular season . . . He drew two in the first period . . . Neither of them was deserved . . . The build-up the announcer gave the Americans in his description of the Toronto game, was really laughable, particularly his numerous references to the speed of the Duttonmen . . . The Leafs and Americans play, in New York tomorrow night . . . The Garden was as hot as a Turkish bath, as usual . . . If the game had been a fast, rugged affair the players would never have been able to go three overtime periods.

All Rangers are assistant referees . . . They attempt to call penalties and it's really surprising how many they get their opponents . . . Ott Heller came to Mickie Ion's rescue in the second period . . . Eddie Shore hit him with an elbow and Eddie was accused of charging . . . The gallery gods call Frankie Brimsek, "Broom-Stick" . . . Bill Cowley was in a belligerent mood all through the game . . . He realized at the very start that the Rangers were out to get him and Conacher, so he went out and gave it to them.

Walter A. Brown

John Bernardi, pro at the Charles River C. C., was an interested spectator . . . Mell Hill, who scored the winning goal, played great hockey all night . . . Rangers didn't pay much attention to him and, with a break or two, Mel would have ended the game at a more respectable hour . . . Earl Robertson, the Americans' injured goalie, was in a box.

Here's one for the book, the Americans borrowed John Thompson from the Philadelphia Ramblers, a Ranger farm club, to play against the Maple Leafs . . . And they had Alfie Moore, the Pittsburgh goalie, in their nets . . . It's a great game, this hockey . . . Frankie Boucher sat with Lester Patrick on the Ranger bench . . . Harvard was represented by "Tack" Hardwick and Le Withington . . . Jerry Geran, the old Bruin, sat in the press box.

Martin Tests Jim Maloney

In something of a wild rage, Jim "Shamus" Maloney, South Boston heavyweight, will be out to annihilate Bull Martin, king of the bad men, in the main bout of the wrestling show tonight at the Boston Arena.

Jack Sharkey, former heavyweight champion of the world, will be third man in this bout, accepting the difficult assignment of keeping Maloney and Martin within the wrestling law in this clash which w l be decided with one fall, with no time limit.

What will happen when this thumping trio moves to the middle of the ring, Maloney and Martin to wrestle and Sharkey to referee, is a question so interesting to the fans of this vicinity that the season's biggest crowd is likely to result.

Concordia Squad To Play Olympics

The fast-skating, hard-checking Concordia hockey aggregation, a member of the Montreal Senior circuit, will invade the Boston Garden this coming Friday and Saturday evenings for their skirmishes with the Boston Olympics.

REDS DRAWING GREAT GATES

By the Associated Press

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla.—President Clark Griffith of the Washington Senators is congratulating himself for looking in the Philadelphia Athletics' back yard before the A's did. Masterson, a 19-year-old speedball ace fresh off the Philadelphia sandlots, fanned five batsmen in three innings against Detroit yesterday.

HAINES CITY, Fla.—Joe McCarthy of the Yankees has had one good look at the players who may be working in his outfield, but decision was reserved. Freshmen Walter Judnich and Charley Keller started against Newark yesterday. Neither caught a fly but each made a hit and Judnich drove in two runs. Joe Gallagher, another promising rookie, went in as a pinch hitter and walked.

TAMPA, Fla.—The word of the dopesters that Cincinnati's Reds are pennant prospects this year has helped the exhibition "gate" considerably. Last year the Reds played to only 10,000 during the grapefruit league season. The "home" attendance thus far has been 8071, with three weeks to go.

BATON ROUGE, La.—Two big questions of the New York Giants' training season are due to be answered in today's game with the Athletics. Carl Hubbell and Hal Schumacher, star moundsmen whose lame arms have been reconditioned, are due for their first real trials. Each will be allowed to pitch until he feels ready to quit, then Dick Coffman will finish.

TIGERS HITTING

BRADENTON, Fla.—The Detroit Tigers' slugging muscles are loosening up—on the evidence of six home runs in the last two games. Even Pitchers Schoolboy Rowe and Archie McKain have hit for the circuit, along with Hank Greenberg, Pete Fox, Frank Croucher and Roy Cullenbine.

LOS ANGELES—Steve Mesner is doing so well at shortstop for the Chicago Cubs that Dick Bartell's rheumatic ankle will be given plenty of time to limber up. Mesner has hit five times in 12 trips to the plate and is playing good defensive ball.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Fat Freddie Fitzsimmons has set 15 victories as his goal for his 15th major league pitching season. He has won 185 games during his career and wants to join that exclusive list of 200-victory hurlers. He figures he can do it if the Dodgers are able to give him four or five days rest between his turns on the mound.

LOS ANGELES—Manager Jimmy Dykes of the Chicago White Sox cut his pitching staff to ten today by sending George Gick and Tom Fleming to Longview, Tex., for further practice under Bob Tarleton, head of the club's farm operations. Dykes plans to carry the remainder of his hurlers at least until the season opens.

AUSTIN, Tex.—The batting record of the Phillies shows why young Norman Deweese, rookie from Montgomery, is getting serious consideration for regular outfield duty. He has hit .428 in seven times up in exhibitions against the Browns. The only better record is Pinky Whitney's .436.

BATON ROUGE, La.—Bill Nagel, Joe Gantenbein and Irving Barthing are in the forefront of the battle for infield posts with the Philadelphia Athletics. Nagel may have sewed up the third base job already while Manager Connie Mack has been impressed by Gatenbein's work and Barthing's at short.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—The St. Louis Cardinals' No. 1 headache—Joe Medwick's holdout—was gone today, but it's still a secret whether he took the club's $18,000 offer, which Branch Rickey said was the top at one of yesterday's conferences, or got the $20,000 he had demanded. Joe has kept in condition but probably won't break into the lineup for a few days.

LOS ANGELES — Having won their first game in five, Pittsburgh's Pirates sought another victory against the White Sox today with two of their mound aces, Jim Tobin and Russ Bauers. The rookie outfielders, Fern Bell and Bob Elliott, who helped beat the Cubs yesterday, may start again.

Mr. BOSTON

By JACK CONWAY

Keep them coming baseball fans. Although we are swamped at the present moment with those rabid Bees and Red Sox rooters deluging this office with letters on the talents of their respective clubs, keep them coming—the more the merrier.

Be patient, writers. If your letter doesn't appear immediately. Give us time, they will sooner or later be published to the best of our ability.

Address your letters to Jack Conway, Boston American, Winthrop square, Boston, and be sure to keep your letter within 250 words and write only on one side of the paper.

Dear Jack:

It is with much interest that I have been following the different opinions of your readers in your column. I have been an American League and Red Sox rooter all my life and how anyone can become interested in the listless brand of ball that is played in the so-called minor or National League is beyond me.

To my mind, an afternoon at the Bees park is nothing but an incentive to a good sleep. A baseball game at Bees Field is nothing but a repetition of the following: a slow grounder to the pitcher; a strike out (V. DiMaggio); and then a long fly to the catcher.

There is much talk of the National League pitchers concerning their low earned run averages. It must be remembered that they are not facing those powerful American League batters. The same is true regarding the so-called brilliant fielding of the N. L. boys. Those miracle makers would be risking suicide if they were out in front of the drives of Foxx, Cronin, Greenberg, Gehrig, etc., etc.

Hoping to see this letter printed, I am,

Yours truly,
FRANCIS H. McCOY.
March 21, 1939. 970 River street, Hyde Park, Mass.

As a Bee's fair and great admirer of them I detest anybody attacking them on their part as a ball team. Manager Casey Stengel and Pres. Bob Quinn have done wonders with the team, considering the amount of money they have to spend for ball players. On the other hand Mr. Cronin and Mr. Yawkey have a gold mine and money is no object in purchasing players. (The question is does money win a pennant?) No.

I think a player say receiving $8000 on the Bees' team is more determent and invaluable to his team, but a player receiving $12,000 on the Sox team pays little attention to his ball playing and more to the money concerned, and again I say to the persons attacking the Bees on the calibre of play. Why, who wants to watch a person smash a homer over the fence when not needed. Let's have that versatile play, that close scoring, and that marvelous defensive work, we know only the Bees can give us.

Let's go back to the games of yesteryears when baseball was 75 per cent pitching and 25 per cent batting. Let's give three cheers for Bob Quinn and to Casey Stengel for his marvelous work in managing that team, but before I stop writing this brief, I wish all the luck to the Boston Bees in 1939 and possibly a pennant in "40" or "41," and regardless where they finish I will still be rooting for the gamest, scrappiest bunch of ball players this side of the Mississippi.

EDWARD MELLO,
95 Converse avenue, Malden, Mass.

Celestino Best Tropical Pk. Bet

By BILL SMITH

After being close to the early pace-makers the last time out, CALESTINO weakened badly and finished a faltering eighth. Dropping down the claiming ladder, the Cosgrove Stable's colorbearer should have little trouble holding his early speed the entire journey to turn back mediocre $1500-$1000 platers in the nightcap stanza at Tropical Park tomorrow.

The victim of a slow start in a recent outing, CANDAR is given one more chance to earn brackets in the first heat.

LADFIELD had a very rough journey in a prior test but needs only smooth sailing to cop the duke in the fourth event.

Medwick Signs Cards' Contract

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 2. (AP)—Branch Rickey, general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, announced tonight Joe Medwick, heavy hitting outfielder, had signed.

"In my opinion, Medwick is ready to play ball today," Rickey said. Rickey did not disclose the contract terms.

Medwick said he was "very satisfied with the terms and I am ready to go to work today."

RULES

RULES: Contestants must cross out "right" or "wrong" word according to their opinion of the statement made or questions asked. For instance, if you find the statement or question to be wrong then you cross out the word "right," and if you believe it to be right then you cross out the word "wrong."

Employes of the Hearst newspapers in Boston, and relatives are ineligible for prizes.

IMPORTANT. Do not send in your selections until the series is completed.

Also include a letter of not more than 100 words or not less than 50 words on "Why Baseball Is the National Pastime." These letters will only be considered in the event of a tie.

The decisions of the judges will be final.

It is not necessary to buy a copy of the paper in order to compete. Copies of the Boston Evening American, Daily Record and Sunday Advertiser, on file at the library, may be traced instead.
